euromicron AG

Margins in H1 influenced by recent acquisitions

- Euromicron is in alignment with its announced profitability growth strategy, although they did not match that profitability growth of its top line in H1/12. While sales grew by 19.1% to €152.8m, EBIT and net income advanced only by 11.9% and 12.1% respectively. The reason was a higher share of total costs, which could stem from acquisitions in 2011 (mainly telent GmbH, ACE Advanced Communication Engineering GmbH and TeraMile GmbH). Between January and June 2012, order intake and backlog remained below the previous year due to the increase of project volume and the shift of valuecreation to H2/12 and telent, which has been consolidated only since 7 June 2011.
- In H1/12, the main growth driver was the segment euromicron WAN services, which in contrast to last year included full six months of telent's revenues. While the segment euromicron Nord, grew by 4% y-o-y to €53m, revenues of euromicron Süd decreased by 3.1% y-o-y to €70.5m due to weak demand in countries such as Italy.
- Despite higher net income and D&A expenses y-o-y, the operating cash flow went down from €-16.4m in H1/11 to €-23.6m. The reason was a significant increase of other operating assets and simultaneous decrease of other operating liabilities. Together with a much lower cash outflow from investing y-o-y of €4.5m and cash inflow from financing of 24.6m, the cash position decreased since 1 January 2012 by 3.6m to €3.7m. As the net debt equaled €98m and shareholder's equity €117.5m, euromicron's net gearing amounted to 83.4% as of 30 June 2012.
- After lower profit margins y-o-y in H1/12, we have slightly lowered our PT for euromicron from previously €30.56 to €30; however, we still recommend to Buy the stock. We like euromicron because it operates in a promising market, covers the entire value chain of its products and pays an attractive dividend (D/Y 5.8%). Due to telent management expect the seasonality of results to strengthen further in the coming years.

3 H1 2012 financial results

Revenues

In H1/12, euromicron generated total sales of €1528m (+19.1% y-o-y), thereof 88.7% in Germany. However, due to seasonality effects and telent GmbH (bought via Asset Deal in June 2011; consolidated since 7 June 2011), which has a different fiscal year than euromicron, the order backlog (€122.7m vs. €146.9m) and intake (€148m vs. €156.1m) went down compared to H1/11. telent GmbH, which has yearly sales of c. €90m and EBIT of c. €6m, is an independent system integrator and technology service company for communication networks with a focus on IP technology, network and asset management as well as PMR solutions.

In H1/12, the main sales driver was the new segment euromicron WAN services, where sales grew from €9.2m in H1/11 to €36.8m as telent was accounted for over the whole Jan-Jun period. While euromicron Nord performed well (+4% to €53m), revenues of euromicron Süd were hit by the Euro debt crisis and its impact on customer demand in countries such as Italy (-3.1% to €70.5m).

euromicron's especially telent's results exhibit a very strong seasonality as in H1 it usually conducts the project design and planning, while in H2 the projects are implemented and invoiced. Euromicron's management expect that due to the new subsidiary the second half of the year will become even more important for the entire Group.

Profitability

Share in sales H1/12 vs. H1/11

Source: Company data, Dr. Kalliwoda Research GmbH

Despite strong sales development, EBIT and net margin were below H1/11. Due to business expansion and integration of new companies (mainly telent GmbH) especially the share of cost of sales and personnel expenses increased. Interest expenses were higher y-o-y (€1.8m vs. €1.3m) as euromicron increased the share of long-term financial debt.

Balance Sheet and Cash Flow

At the end of June 2012, the most important positions on euromicron's balance sheet were (1) equity of €117.5m (2) goodwill of €104.2m and (3) trade receivables of €96.4m. As of 30 June 2012, the company had interest-bearing debt of €102.9m (short-term financial debt equal to €44m; long-term financial debt of €58.1m; pension provisions of €76k) and liquid funds (cash plus short-term financial assets) of €4.9m. Thus, the net debt position amounted to €98m.

Despite higher net income and depreciation and amortisation expenses y-o-y (€4m vs. €2.4m in H1/11), the operating cash flow amounted to €-23.6m (H1/11: €-16.4m). The reason was a significant increase of other operating assets and simultaneous decrease of other operating liabilities. While the cash outflow from investing, which in H1/11 was affected by the acquisition of telent GmbH, went down from €15.2m to €4.5m, the cash flow from financing reached €24.6m (H1/11: €31.2m). In total, the cash position in H1/12 decreased by €3.6m to €3.7m.

4 Outlook

As euromicron's business exhibits a strong seasonality, we expect much better sales and orders in H2/12. Also, we believe that in the next quarters the company will report higher margins due to further optimization of costs and integration of new subsidiaries. Nevertheless, due to the Euro debt crisis and its negative impact on demand, especially in the southern part of Europe, our 2012 forecasts remain at the lower end of euromicron's own guidance (sales of €330-345m, EBIT margin 8-11%).

In our view, euromicron has excellent future prospects due to ongoing investments into telecommunication and network infrastructure, which are necessary because of e.g. increasing popularity of online video or the introduction of LTE (broadband mobile data transmission technology). We like the fact that the company covers the entire value chain in its segment including manufacturing, integration, consulting and maintenance. euromicron seeks to expand into promising niche markets and products by investments in/acquisitions of teams, technologies or small specialized companies. In order to bundle its know-how in certain particularly interesting areas, euromicron aims to create so-called Competence Centers e.g. "yoU ARe Modular" in H1/12.
